

O Lord, I Am Ashamed

O Lord, I stand in shame today,
Ashamed of all I've done and say.
Worldly glitter drew me astray;
From Your path I lost my way.

Do not cast this servant far from Yee;
On Judgment Day, let my honor be.
Your countless gifts awaken love in me;
Your Mercy brings tears I cannot flee.

O Allah, every blessing You bestow
Fills my heart with love and longing glow.
The depth of Your unfailing love I see
Brings tears that flow so helplessly.

You gave me life, You gave me sight,
You fed my soul every day and night.
You blessed my home with peace and love,
Yet I strayed far from You above.

You honored me with countless grace,
Yet sought I still another place.
You granted wealth and health untold,
Yet worldly dreams took firmest hold.

O Allah, every blessing You bestow
Fills my heart with love and longing glow.
The depth of Your unfailing love I see
Brings tears that flow so helplessly.

The Prophet ﷺ taught us to heal broken heart,
Yet gratitude was not my part.
You filled my hands with daily bread,
While hungry souls I never fed.

The one who was alive just yesterday
Was called from this short world away.
Yet when I woke to greet the dawn,
Your gift of life was scarcely known.

O Allah, every blessing You bestow
Fills my heart with love and longing glow.

The depth of Your unfailing love I see
Brings tears that flow so helplessly.

Whenever I stumbled, You lifted me high;
Yet from Your mercy I still would fly.
Each day I said, "Tomorrow I'll return,"
But every day I failed to learn.

When silence wraps the dark of night,
My soul is crushed beneath its plight.
My heart is heavy, tears descend;
O Lord, forgive me in the end.

O Allah, every blessing You bestow
Fills my heart with love and longing glow.
The depth of Your unfailing love I see
Brings tears that flow so helplessly.

If people knew what You have known,
They'd leave me standing all alone.
You hid my faults from every eye;
Without Your veil, all bonds would die.

Lord, still Your mercy covered me,
Yet patiently You waited for me.
You gave me time, You showed the way,
Yet from Your path I strayed each day.

O Allah, every blessing You bestow
Fills my heart with love and longing glow.
The depth of Your unfailing love I see
Brings tears that flow so helplessly.

I knew You watched my every deed,
Yet followed still my selfish greed.
How can I stand before Your Face,
When every sin recalls disgrace?

Your door of mercy stayed open wide,
Yet I chose rebellion as my guide.
You witnessed every wrong I made;
From You no deed was ever veiled.

O Allah, every blessing You bestow
Fills my heart with love and longing glow.

The depth of Your unfailing love I see
Brings tears that flow so helplessly.

Here I stand with trembling soul,
Broken, fearful, far from whole.
Too ashamed to lift my weary eyes,
Yet Your mercy says "Seek Paradise.

Forgive my sins, forsake me not;
Forget not this repentant heart.
On Judgment Day, let not my face
Be lowered down in shame's embrace.

O Allah, every blessing You bestow
Fills my heart with love and longing glow.
The depth of Your unfailing love I see
Brings tears that flow so helplessly.

You love the souls who weep and pray,
Who wasted years, then found Your way.
What shall I say when we finally meet?
I'll drown in tears before Your feet.

No flight remains from my own deed,
My book bears witness to each seed.
My hands are empty, head hangs low;
With sins alone I stand in woe.

O Allah, every blessing You bestow
Fills my heart with love and longing glow.
The depth of Your unfailing love I see
Brings tears that flow so helplessly.

You watched me every passing hour;
Yet sin still held its tempting power.
Now I repent with broken plea,
Ashamed before Your Majesty.

O Lord, I grieve for all I've done;
You saw each deed beneath the sun.
Accept my tears, my heart renew,
And let Haleem! find his way to You.

O Allah, every blessing You bestow
Fills my heart with love and longing glow.

The depth of Your unfailing love I see
Brings tears that flow so helplessly.
